Victor B. Chesire Shot by Thos. King.

Last Friday morning about 11 o'clock Victor B. Chesire, a well known young man and a rural mail carrier on one of the routes leading out from the city was shot in the face and painfully wounded by Thos. King. The shooting occurred on the Court House Square when there was a crowd on the streets and caused a great deal of excitement. It seems that Chesire was standing leaning against a post on the square, when King approached. It is claimed that Chesire did not see him approaching until King was upon him and as he turned, King fired. The ball entered the left cheek, passing through the eye, and striking the right side, under the eye. D. King, brother of Thos. King, then came up and threw a rock striking Chesire on the body. Chesire drew his pistol, but did not fire. The cause of the difficulty, as alleged by the Kings, was an insult that was said to have been offered by Chesire to Mrs. King, their mother-in-law, of 30 years. This occurred several days ago, and parties on both sides had been trying to adjust the matter.

Chesire stoutly denied the charge. The sons did not hear of it until Thursday and they came at once to the city in search of Chesire.

The Kings were admitted to bail Friday afternoon in the sum of $500 each.

Best Town in the South.

Mr. J. A. Brock, of Anderson, was registered at the Argyle yesterday, and was a welcome guest at the dinner given by the Commercial Club last night. Mr. Brock is one of Anderson's most progressive business men, and is especially well posted as to the financial and agricultural conditions of his section. "Anderson," says Mr. Brock, "is the best town in the South. Of course, every man thinks that about his home town, but when he feels it so, he is always glad to have the opportunity to say, 'outs is the best town in the South.'" The cotton mills in the Piedmont section have been up against a hard proposition for the past two or three years, but are gradually getting out of the trouble brought on by high-priced cotton. The mill business is unusually good just now. Mr. Brock states that the financial conditions in his section and county are splendid, and that the goals of prosperity seem to have been reached in the midst of the conflict, with just.

At Hymen's Altar.

The wedding of Miss Jessie Doane and Mr. Joseph P. Riley was a pretty event of last evening, the ceremony taking place at Christ Church, Hapeville, at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. C. B. Wilner officiating.

The little church, which was decorated prettily with chrysanthemums and ferns, was comfortably filled with interested friends of the young couple.

The bride wore a white crepe de chine gown, made with full skirt, and demitasse and trimmed with lace. Her flowers were bride roses. She was a lovely looking bride, tall and fair with a wealth of golden-brown hair, and brilliant coloring. There were no attendants at the bride and groom entering the church together.

Following the ceremony was a reception at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Betts.

Mrs. Riley is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Alonzo Doane. She is very talented, being an accomplished pianist and has a quick, versatile mind.

Mr. Riley is a South Carolinian, but has made his home in Atlanta for the past ten years. He is president of the Columbia Phonograph company, and is a progressive, successful young business man.

Mr. Riley and his bride are at home at the Argyle for the present.—Atlanta Journal, 17th inst.

The groom is a son of Mrs. F. S. Riley, of this city, and has many friends here who will join in extending him congratulations.

Bodies Removed.

The bodies of six federal soldiers buried in the cemetery of the First Presbyterian church in this city were exhumed Thursday and taken to the national cemetery at Arlington, Va., for interment. Lieut. M. H. Carlington, a native South Carolinian and an officer in the United States army, superintended the removal of the bodies. These soldiers were buried here in 1865. They were privates and members of the First battalion of Maine volunteers, a regiment stationed at Anderson at the close of the war for garrison duty. The Ladies' Memorial association has been caring for the graves for 20 years.

The attention of Maj. John Mass, adjutant of the 1st Mass., adjutant of the 1st Mass., he took it up with the removal of the bodies to the national cemetery.

Death of Thos. H. Burton.

The Hartwell (Ga.) Sun, of the 18th inst., says: "Thos. H. Burton, one of the most highly respected and best loved citizens of this county, died at his home at Shiloh Creek district Monday morning at one o'clock. The cause of Mr. Burton's death was typhoid fever. The deceased was a member of Shiloh Creek Baptist Church and was also the superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school at that place. He was at one time treasurer of Hart county, which position he filled acceptably and honorably for several years. He was held in high esteem by his neighbors and by low citizens. For many years he was a member of the church as did Thos. Burton, a devout Christian, a true neighbor, an honest man. What higher sphere in life can man attain? At the time of his death he was 65 years old. He was not only of his immediate neighborhood but all over the county will join The Sun in extending to the grief-stricken widow sincere condolence." The deceased is a nephew of Mrs. A. S. Stephens, of this city, and about 10 years ago married Miss Marie Norris, a daughter of the late A. E. Norris, of this city.

To the Bright Girls of the Country.

The expenses for one year at a leading Southern college will be paid for a bright, worthy girl of Anderson county, S. C., who will secure for me one hundred and fifteen subscribers to my book, "Lee and Longstreet at High Tide." The college expenses include books, tuition, laundry and incidentals.

For the double purpose of giving the people the truth of our civil war history, and of extending a helping hand to the struggling ambitious girls of the country, I am pleased to place at college within reach of a girl of this county who desires an education earnestly enough to exert herself a little. Should the girl availing herself of this opportunity prove particularly deserving, I pledge myself to the endeavor to open the way for her to complete the college course.

The girl who is interested in this offer should communicate with me at once, and her communication should be accompanied by the endorsement of her county School Commissioner, the editor of this paper and the teacher of the last school she attended.

I would be glad to communicate with every ambitious girl in this county who is struggling to educate her children.

Mrs. James Longstreet, Gainesville, Ga.

The Christmas Delineator.

The December Delineator, with its message of good cheer and helpfulness will be welcomed in every home. The fashion pages are unusually attractive, illustrating and describing the very latest modes in a way to make their construction during the busy festive season a pleasure instead of a task, and the literary and pictorial features are of rare excellence.

A selection of Love Songs from the Wagner Operas, rendered into English by Richard de Gallienne and beautifully illustrated in colors by J. C. Leyendecker, occupies a prominent place, and a chapter in the Composer's Series, relating the romance of Wagner and Cosima, is an interesting supplement to the lyrics. A very clever paper entitled "The Court Circles of the Republic," describes some unique phases of Washington social life from an unnamed contributor, who is said to write from the inner circles of society. There are short stories from the pens of F. Hopkinson Smith, Robert Grant, Alice Brown, Mary Stewart, Cutting and Elmore Elliot Penke, and such interesting writers as Julia Magruder, L. Frank Baum, and Grace MacGowan Cooke hold the attention of the children. Many Christmas suggestions are given in the editorial, and a selection of pages are reprinted of the Christmas feast. In addition, there are the regular departments of the magazine, with many special articles on topics relating to women's interests within and without the home.

The Old Time Southerner.

The great General N. B. Forrest was one of fifteen children. He inherited the energetic qualities of his remarkable mother, who was "the mother of men." The old time southerner was patriarchal in many ways, and notably in having large families. Race suicide was practically unknown in the "old South." There has recently died in Pelzer, S. C., one of the grand old stock, Dr. J. D. Curdson, who was the father of sixteen children. This patriarch volunteered in the beginning of the war among the very first to do so, and served through the war as an officer, by promotion. He was a dentist, and after the war divided his time between his profession and farming. Of his sixteen children, thirteen are still living, and thirteen was not for him an unlucky number. He could explain with the inspired palmist: "As arrows in the hand of the mighty so the children of them that have been shaken. Blessed is the man who hath filled his desire when he shall not be confounded when he shall look at his enemies in the gate."—Augusta Chronicle.

A Startling Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Morrill, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes: "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach.
